Excellent quarter for all product lines

Esker sales revenue rebounded to 19% in the second quarter following a difficult first quarter. The strength of the second quarter results has made it possible to compensate for the sales decline experienced in the first quarter and leads Esker to positive growth of 8% for the first half of the year. All product lines posted positive results contributing to this excellent quarter. Following three quarters in decline, the US returns to positive results with a 15% increase in revenue over the course of the quarter and 5% increase for the first half of the year. The European arm grew as well by 22% over the course of the quarter, achieving a 10% increase for the first half of the year.

Document automation solutions return to growth

Document automation solutions posted good results even without accounting for many significant contracts over the quarter. The economic climate continues to be a heavy weight on both sides of the Atlantic, causing companies to delay decision-making on larger projects. In light of the current economic situation, the growth observed by Esker proves the strength of its chosen economic model to support on demand solutions and software development. Esker's document automation solution (Esker DeliveryWare) grew by 16% over the quarter and on demand services (FlyDoc and Esker on Demand) once again demonstrated excellent growth of 72% compared to the same period in 2007. Overall, sales revenue generated by on demand solutions represent 23% of Esker's business portfolio for the second quarter of 2008. (continued)

Legacy solutions remain solid

Esker's legacy solutions (Fax Servers and Host Access) increased slightly over the course of the quarter. The growth in sales revenue for Host Access was attributed to a significant licensing agreement signed in the UK. The Fax product lines did better than expected, thanks to a new partner contracts signed in the US. This trend should continue over the remainder of the year.

2008 outlook

The sales rebound experienced during the second quarter should allow Esker to compensate for the sales decline that occurred at the beginning of the year. However, the half-year results remain strongly impacted by the lackluster sales from the first quarter, the weakened dollar, and because of seasonal factors that typically affect sales revenue as well as expenses. If the economy does not experience any further decline, Esker anticipates continuing positive results throughout the remainder of the year. The business portfolio remains strong and the September 2008 launch of Esker DeliveryWare 5.0 should help to support these expectations. If this forecast is realized, the savings measures carried out during the second quarter will make it possible to rebalance the company financial performance.
