

Esker Announces Partnership with Proservartner for Procure-to-Pay and Order-to-Cash Solutions

Derby, UK — August 10, 2021 — Esker, a global cloud platform and leader in AI-driven process automation solutions for finance and customer service functions, today announced a referral partnership with Proservartner, an international consulting firm. This alliance will enable Proservartner to further develop its service offering in helping to create cost efficiencies, standardise and optimise processes as well as enable agile back-office functions to gain a competitive advantage.

This partnership will allow Esker to further develop its presence globally, and allows Proservartner to further help optimise organisations' business processes through digital transformation, including the electronic processing of internal or external transactional documentation.

Matt Tipper, Head of Partnerships, Esker Northern Europe, said; "This partnership brings excellent synergistic value for both of our companies, especially where Proservartner's RPA and process mining expertise can complement Esker's market leading platform to fully optimise the Procure-to-Pay and Order-To-Cash cycles."

Tipper continued: "It adds significant capabilities to Proservartner's client services offering, while also enabling Esker to work directly with a leading technology change transformation consultancy with global delivery capabilities".

Matthew Francis, Head of Alliances, Proservartner, commented; "Working together, we are able to deliver market leading Procure-to-Pay and Order-To-Cash solutions that will bring cost savings and increased revenue growth to our combined client base. We want to welcome our partners from Esker onboard, at a time when both companies are seeing incredible growth and look forward to a very successful future together".
