Esker and Kompozable Sign Strategic Partnership To Help Businesses Leverage Data & Enable Digital Aspirations

Derby, UK — June 19, 2024 — Esker, a global cloud platform and leader in AI-driven process automation solutions for Finance, Procurement and Customer Service functions, today announced a strategic partnership with Kompozable, a leading UK-based data and integration firm, to offer referral opportunities for Esker.

Kompozable helps businesses unlock the full potential of their data by simplifying the process of extracting and sharing data from ERP systems. Kompozable focuses on supply chain, manufacturing and back-office for businesses in manufacturing, wholesale & distribution, retail, and business-to-business services. Specialisms in these areas mean the team can use their expertise and knowledge of the industries to quickly focus on priorities, issues and opportunity areas.

“At Kompozable, we understand the challenges businesses face when it comes to liberating ERP data. We specialise in helping organisations successfully exploit data, integration, and intelligent automation, so they can thrive in the digital economy. Increasingly, businesses are looking to a more composable architecture for ERP, rather than relying on single vendor solutions. This is where Esker’s AI solutions for source-to-pay and order-to-cash can integrate with back office ERP data to drive greater efficiencies and enable complete automation.”

Bryan Oak, Executive Director, Kompozable

“The team at Kompozable are able to see opportunities for organisational and process improvements which ties in perfectly with what Esker is able to offer. We look forward to a fruitful partnership.”

Alistair Nicholas, Managing Director, Esker Northern Europe
