

Esfer Announces Partnership with Viveris to Meet Growing Needs of Businesses and Accelerate Delivery of Cloud Solutions

MIDDLETON, Wis. — June 26, 2018 — Esfer, a worldwide leader in document process automation solutions and pioneer in cloud computing, today announced its partnership with Viveris, a French-based systems integrator. This agreement will enable Esfer to accelerate its solution implementation while maintaining the quality and focus given to its customers. By joining forces with Esfer, Viveris expands its digital process automation offering.

As part of the partnership, Viveris is creating a skills center to ensure the successful implementation and sales of Esfer's solutions to automate businesses' document processes. The first Viveris consultants have already integrated Esfer's training program and are working on several customer projects.

"Our collaboration with Viveris is in line with our strategy to develop a partner network to implement and sell our solutions with their technical and functional added value," said Emmanuel Olivier, chief operating officer at Esfer. "Beyond its expertise as a player in the digital transformation of businesses, Viveris shares our core values based on proximity to customers and a vision of technology based on user benefits."

Viveris will be able to accompany companies of all sizes in their document process automation projects thanks to Esfer's solutions. By leveraging their technological and operational capabilities, as well as common values, the two companies expect to accelerate growth and actively facilitate the digital transformation of French companies.

"We decided to integrate Esfer's solution within our offerings to meet our customers' increasing document process automation needs," said Eric Stefani, general manager at Viveris. "This partnership complements our traditional expertise in ERP integration, content management and archiving. Our teams will now be able to respond to business issues such as the automation of supplier invoice processing."
